A Branded USB can take many forms. They come in all forms and sizes. That is the physical size, as well as the memory storage capacity. The range of promotional USB's that you can brand run from cheap plastic USB's that are almost designed to be disposable, through to high end metal USB's that can be used as a work tool once they have read your promotional material. So choosing the right branded USB can be a tricky process. You want to find something that matches the branding for your business, as well as meeting the ever stringent demands of decreasing marketing budgets.
